

TEN APPS. ONE FACTORY.

Every product in this kit came out of the same machine: 19,813 ideas generated and scored by formula, 228 deep-researched, ten built and shipped as live MVPs — each now buying its own cold traffic. Two get scaled into companies; the rest die on camera. One page per app follows.

THE LINEUP

01 RepairLever — inspection reports, weaponized

02 EulogyWell — the eulogy, written tonight

03 ProfileRescue — the brutal dating-profile audit

REPAIRLEVER.

YOUR INSPECTION REPORT IS LEVERAGE.

The 42-page home-inspection report isn't bad news — it's the strongest card a buyer holds. RepairLever reads every finding, prices the ask, and writes the negotiation letter that cites the report's own pages. The seller fixes it, or pays you to.

WHO IT'S FOR

Homebuyers under contract — especially first-timers staring at a scary report on a five-day objection deadline. Secondary: buyer agents who want a faster, cleaner ask.

THE ANGLE

Flip the fear. Everyone else sees 58 problems; RepairLever sees a priced, page-cited demand the seller has to answer before the deadline.

HOW IT WORKS

01UPLOAD THE REPORT

Drop the inspection PDF in. Every finding is read and understood — all 58 of them.

02SORT & PRICE THE ASK

Findings sort into safety, big-ticket, and let-it-go — each one priced as a repair or a credit.

03SEND THE LETTER

A formal negotiation letter assembles, citing the report's own page numbers as evidence.

EULOGYWELL.

THE WORDS WON'T COME. THE QUESTIONS WILL.

Saying yes to “a few words at the service” is easy. The 1 a.m. blank page titled “For Mom” is not. EulogyWell asks warm questions only you can answer, then shapes those stories into a real eulogy — opening, stories, goodbye — in your voice, ready to print tonight.

WHO IT'S FOR

A grieving family member who was just asked to speak at a funeral that's days away — and is terrified of getting the one chance wrong.

THE ANGLE

Nobody needs a template that sounds like a greeting card. They need their own stories given a shape — so Saturday they're reading her back to the people who loved her.

01

ANSWER THE QUESTIONS

“What did she always say?” “Tell me a moment that was completely her.” Type what only you know.

GET THE EULOGY

Your answers become a structured draft — about four minutes read aloud, in your voice.

PRINT IT TONIGHT

Walk up Saturday with steady pages, not improvisation through tears.

PROFILERESCUE.

IT'S NOT YOUR FACE. IT'S YOUR THIRD PHOTO.

She decided in under a second — and you never hear why. ProfileRescue is the brutal audit your friends will never give you: every photo graded, every bio line scored, then an exact rebuild plan. Same face, different profile. That's the whole game.

WHO IT'S FOR

Men roughly 25–45 getting near-zero matches on Hinge, Tinder, or Bumble who suspect the profile — not the face — is the problem.

THE ANGLE

Honest feedback as a product. The mirror selfie gets stamped CUT, the “just ask” bio gets rewritten from your actual life, and the fix is specific enough to execute this weekend.

01

UPLOAD YOUR PROFILE

Photos and bio go in exactly as they appear on the apps.

TAKE THE AUDIT

RUN THE FIX

Exact photo order, two specific shots to take this weekend, and a bio rebuilt without clichés.

SELLERREINSTATE.

PASTE THE NOTICE. GET THE PLAN OF ACTION.

When Amazon deactivates a seller account, sales flatline to zero, funds freeze, and FBA inventory strands — while the first appeal quietly becomes the one shot that matters. SellerReinstate reads the suspension notice, identifies the exact violation, and drafts the Plan of Action in the format Seller Performance actually accepts.

WHO IT'S FOR

Suspended Amazon FBA sellers bleeding real revenue every day the account stays down — a $2k/day store loses ~$30k in two weeks.

THE ANGLE

Amazon doesn't want an apology; it wants root cause, corrective actions, and preventive measures — matched to the violation. Botch appeal #1 and you're in the resubmission loop for weeks.

HOW IT WORKS

01PASTE THE NOTICE

The deactivation email goes in, exactly as it arrived.

02VIOLATION DETECTED

Section 3, inauthenticity, related accounts, dropshipping policy — the appeal is tuned to the reason.

03FILE THE PLAN OF ACTION

Root cause → corrective actions
→ preventive measures, in the structure reviewers expect.

IEPALLY.

EIGHT OF THEM. ONE OF YOU. NOW YOU'RE READY.

The school sends 26 pages of draft IEP at 9:47 p.m.; the meeting is at 8. IEPally translates the whole packet into plain English, flags what's off — vague goals, service minutes that quietly shrank — names the right that applies to each one, and builds your checklist and letters so every request lands in writing.

WHO IT'S FOR

Parents of kids with IEPs or 504 plans who feel outnumbered at the table and out-jargoned on paper.

THE ANGLE

You're not unprepared because you don't care — you're outgunned by paperwork. IEPally turns the 9 p.m. packet into an 8 a.m. playbook.

HOW IT WORKS

01

UPLOAD THE IEP

The PDF translates line by line — LRE, FAPE, present levels, all in plain English.

02

SEE THE RED FLAGS

"No measurable goal." "Speech: 90 → 30 minutes." Each flag names the right that applies.

03

WALK IN ARMED

A one-page meeting checklist plus ready-to-send letters — requests in writing, on the record.

NINETYPLAN.

THE FINALIST WITH PAPER WINS.

The email lands Friday at 4:47: “Come prepared to present your 30-60-90 plan.” NinetyPlan starts from the actual job posting, pulls its stated priorities into three phases, and exports a one-pager or deck — so Monday you’re the finalist sliding paper across the table, not the one saying “hit the ground running.”

WHO IT'S FOR

Job candidates heading into final-round interviews — plus newly promoted managers who need a credible first-90-days plan by next week.

THE ANGLE

Hiring managers have seen every template on page one of Google. A plan built from the role’s own posting reads like you already work there.

HOW IT WORKS

01

PASTE THE POSTING

Add your background beside it — that’s the whole input.

02

THREE PHASES BUILD

Days 1–30 learn + one quick win; 31–60 take ownership; 61–90 the results the posting asked for.

03

EXPORT & PRESENT

A clean one-pager or slide deck, ready for the room.

HOAREPLY.

THEIR OWN RULEBOOK, QUOTED BACK.

A $75 fine because the garden hose is a “visual nuisance” — and fine print that says it accrues in fourteen days. HOAREply reads the violation letter, pulls the exact bylaw it cites, flags where the notice stretches past what the rule says, and drafts a firm, civil reply with the hearing requested. Nothing that escalates; nothing they can ignore.

WHO IT'S FOR

Homeowners holding a petty or unfair HOA violation notice — furious, on a deadline, and one all-caps email away from making it worse.

THE ANGLE

Out-cite the board instead of out-shouting it. The midnight rage email turns a $75 fine into a hearing about you; the cited reply turns it into the board's problem.

01

UPLOAD THE LETTER

Photograph the notice — deadline and cited section detected automatically.

02

CHECK THE BYLAW

The cited rule pulls up in full; overreach beyond the actual text gets flagged.

03

SEND THE REPLY

Bylaw quoted, fine disputed point by point, hearing requested — on time, in writing.

TOASTGHOST.

EMPTY NOTE TO FINISHED TOAST IN TEN MINUTES.

Five days out, the doc still reads “funny story about Jake???” ToastGhost interviews you about the couple — how they met, the story you tell at the bar — then ghostwrites the toast: an opener, two real laughs, one line that gets the room quiet. Delivery notes included: where to pause, when to look up, when to raise the glass.

WHO IT'S FOR

Best men and maids of honor in week-before panic — one mic, 120 guests, her grandmother in the front row, no do-overs.

THE ANGLE

The alternative is a 1 a.m. template that opens with “Webster’s defines love as...” ToastGhost writes three minutes that sound like you on your best day — nothing you’ll apologize for at brunch.

HOW IT WORKS

01

TAKE THE INTERVIEW

Ten minutes of questions about the couple and the stories only you know.

GET THE TOAST

Opener → laugh → laugh → the sweet line → the glass.
Structured, personal, safe.

03

DELIVER IT

Margin notes tell you where to pause, when to look at the couple, when to raise the glass.

BILLAUTOPSY.

DON'T PAY IT. AUTOPSY IT.

The itemized hospital bill is a crime scene: the same CT scan on line 14 and line 22, an $87 foam sling, charges coded because they're betting you won't check. BillAutopsy reads every line, flags duplicates, unbundled charges, and prices far above typical rates — then drafts the dispute letter, cited by line number.

WHO IT'S FOR

US patients holding a large, confusing hospital bill they suspect is wrong — which, at these totals, is worth confirming before paying a cent.

THE ANGLE

Weaponize the itemized bill. You're entitled to it, the errors live in it, and a proper line-cited dispute can move a bill by hundreds or thousands. Pay quietly and the errors get paid too.

HOW IT WORKS

01GET THE ITEMIZED BILL

One call to billing — you're entitled to it. The summary bill hides the evidence.

02RUN THE AUTOPSY

Every line checked: duplicates, upcodes, unbundling, prices far above typical rates.

03SEND THE DISPUTE

A formal letter quoting every flagged charge by line number, ready for billing.

MILESRESCUE.

FIND THE MILES QUIETLY DYING.

That “your miles will expire” email you archived was a boarding pass. MilesRescue pulls every loyalty balance — airlines, hotels, canceled cards — into one dashboard, flags what dies first with the date, and gives the cheapest save for each: often a single one-mile redemption resets the entire clock.

WHO IT'S FOR

Casual travelers with points scattered across programs — balances too small to remember, too big to burn, and quietly wiped after 18–24 months of silence.

THE ANGLE

Inbox archaeology as a hook: search “miles will expire” and count the unread results. Added up, the scraps are a free round-trip — currently scheduled to vanish.

HOW IT WORKS

01CONNECT YOUR PROGRAMS

Every balance lands in one clean list — airlines, hotels, cards.

02SEE WHAT DIES FIRST

Expiring balances sort to the top, each with its date. No second warnings missed.

03RUN THE CHEAPEST SAVE

Redeem one mile, transfer to a partner — the exact move that resets each clock.
