

REPAIRLEVER.

YOUR INSPECTION REPORT IS LEVERAGE.

The 42-page home-inspection report isn't bad news — it's the strongest card a buyer holds. RepairLever reads every finding, prices the ask, and writes the negotiation letter that cites the report's own pages. The seller fixes it, or pays you to.

WHO IT'S FOR

Homebuyers under contract — especially first-timers staring at a scary report on a five-day objection deadline. Secondary: buyer agents who want a faster, cleaner ask.

THE ANGLE

Flip the fear. Everyone else sees 58 problems; RepairLever sees a priced, page-cited demand the seller has to answer before the deadline.

HOW IT WORKS

01UPLOAD THE REPORT

Drop the inspection PDF in. Every finding is read and understood — all 58 of them.

02SORT & PRICE THE ASK

Findings sort into safety, big-ticket, and let-it-go — each one priced as a repair or a credit.

03SEND THE LETTER

A formal negotiation letter assembles, citing the report's own page numbers as evidence.
